

Dear Friends:

Today I want you to ask yourself, "Do I really care?" That's a question that has been the forefront of my mind. In this country, our children are dying daily from gun violence, black children make up 15% of the U.S. population but 60% of new HIV/AIDS cases, over 200,000 children are incarcerated yearly and nearly 7000 children dropout of school daily. Do you really care? I believe you do. That's what I am calling on you to do something about it. Join me in my mission to save the 9 to 15 million at-risk youth in America. The first thing you need to do is order my book: How To Save Our Children From Crime, Drugs and Violence. It is a blueprint for saving the misguided.

Today is the day that you can make a difference. Today is the day that you should visit www.cedricdean.com and read my free Protocol For Saving America's Youth. I am doing some incredible things from prison - but what are you doing? You have the freedom to do whatever you please. I don't - I have limitations on what I do. Trying to save the children is the only thing that matters to me - that's all I am concern with doing.

So let today be the day that you decide that you really do care. Let today be the day that you decide to contact your local government and school officials and let them know that you care - and you're willing to do your part.

I strongly urge you to love your neighbor as you love yourself. God blessings will rain down on you if you do.

Today...Tomorrow and Forever!!!

Yours for the cause of Love and Peace,

Cedric Dean
