A STATEMENT IN LITERATURE

W·CLARK
PUBLISHING

The Godfather is dead. Now, he is about to find out if there is a heaven for gangsters.

Fate has a lot to be furious about. He was true to the drug game, but not the game of life: dealing drugs on Sundays - killing on Mondays. He knows there is nothing to redeem himself. But if the impossible is possible, he will be able to rescue the only thing in life he loved - his daughter.

Felicia, 18, just inherited 5 million dollars and the criminal mind of her mafia father.

His last wish is to save her from the savagery that took his life.

Snakes are in the grass and Father Time is about to stop the clock.
